

Calendar Art Sets: II

by Herbert G. Price

In 1941, three years after it released the first Girlie set, Superior Match released the first Calendar Art set. According to a checklist I have from the Keystone Matchcover Club the series was called "American Scenics". There were nine sets in this series which ended in 1949. The next seven sets Superior released were called "Americana".

These covers should not be confused with the "Americana" covers released by Edgar Perkins. The Keystone checklist only gives information about the first two sets in this second series, but I have a copy of a Golden Orange Matchmaker newsletter which lists five additional sets. We will list additional Calendar Art sets in the next issue of the RMS Bulletin.

Please share with me any information you have on these sets so our listing will be as accurate and complete as possible.
