

World War II Era Safety First Set

A number of collectors collect Safety Sets as a distinct category. The ones produced during the war mainly focused on working around machinery. The ones issued in the 1950s and 1960s, on the other hand, tend to focus on driving and pedestrian safety.

This one's a nice old World War II era Safety Set. There are six front-strike Universal 20s covers. The back panels are all the same; each front panel has a different safety hint:

1. Use your head-Save your hands!
2. Protect your feet-Wear safety shoes
3. Carelessness causes many serious accidents
4. Check Carefully! Before starting machinery!
5. Consideration of fellow employees will..
6. Protect your eyes –Wear your goggles

Such safety sets were fairly common during the war, when industry was in high gear
