

I once took the ferry from Port Angeles, WA, to Vancouver. It was basically a large barge. That isn't BC Ferries! These are basically small cruise ships!

Vessels serving customers on BC Ferries routes between Vancouver and Vancouver Island, the Southern Gulf Islands and Sunshine Coast offer a wide range of passenger services. The mix varies from one ship to the next but the goal is always the same: to make your voyage comfortable and enjoyable. Amenities include: great food, naturalist programs, lounge, retail shop. The BC Ferries web site (<http://www.bcferrries.com/>) has lots of promotional offers and discounts.

I have my 17 BC Ferries covers with my Ship Line collection (15 20s, 2 30s).
