MOST POPULAR WITH MALES: MOST POPULAR WITH FEMALES:

The differences pictured here are at least great enough to make one stop and think...

On the male side—Guns! Tanks! Sports! Navy Ships! Cars! Tobacco! Beer!

Transportation! Oldies!...and, of course, Naked Women!

On the female side—Teddy Bears! Cute Little Animals! Christmas! Hallmark Designs! Fancies!...and those darling little Midgets!

One probably could have guessed ahead of time that there would be differences in collecting tastes according to gender, but if 'one' would have ventured to say so without cold, hard statistics to back it up, 'one' would have been labeled a 'sexist, chauvinist, male pig!' [like I haven't been called that before!] Now, I can come out of the closet!

There does seem to be male and female-oriented categories, and they do seem to fall along stereotypical gender lines...so, perhaps those stereotypes aren't so inaccurate after all, albetit there will always be those that hold such to be politically incorrect [of course, when you come to think about it, there isn't much that is politically correct these days].

This is all on a general level, though, rather than an individual level. For example, out of the eight 'female' categories seen above, I happen to collect five of them, myself...but none of them are my favorites, I swear! And I'm certain our beloved Governor Arnold wouldn't call me a 'Girly Man'! [He wouldn't...would he?] Yea, I like Filigrees and Christmas covers...but, come on, I smoke a pipe; I have a beard; I drive a truck; I have muscles [Well, three out of four's not bad!]
