Note: I normally put suburbs in with the main city. I.e., Pasadena = Los Angeles

Well, the surprise here (for me, at least) was the No. 1 response—Las Vegas! Being in California, I certainly wouldn't mind seeing the RMS Convention on this side of the Rockies for a change. The standard argument against a Las Vegas venue is that everyone would be at the casinos instead of the convention, but I don't know that that would be the case.

There's no club there to host, but there are a number of collectors there. Perhaps they would be willing to do the prep work.

I wouldn't mind go to Santa Fe either!
