Alright! Well, I'll bet that unless you're one of the 19 people voting Full-Lengths as the most attractive category of covers, you're surprised. I was! Hard to beat those old Full-length trucks are diners, but most Full-lengths aren't trucks and diners. But, Full-lengths won our beauty contest. Who am I to argue!

Features came in second place. Not surprising that that category did well. 'Attractiveness' is their thing, after all.

I am surprised that the traditional 'Fancies' didn't do much better. I mean, that's why they're called 'Fancies'! Cameos, Uniglos, Foilites, Matchoramas--I would have guessed they would have been in the top 5.

Christmas covers tied for 5th place, so they, at least made the top 5. That's fitting, I think, as almost all are really fancy and attractive.

Cameos only got one vote...and I think it was mine!! Now, come on! Those are really attractive covers. Attractiveness was their main selling feature!

Oh! And I really feel slighted that one of my favorite attractive covers wasn't even mentioned—Satins! They're not only attractive, they're—sexy! But, then, maybe it's just me!

Well, thanks once again to all who participated. And, once again, if you're not receiving the Insta-Poll questions, I don't have your e-mail
