

KNOW YOUR COVERS!

Americana

As far as I know, “Americana” is a hobby term, not a trademark. It’s used to as a category for covers having American scenic pictures, such as the two shown here. They can be majestic outdoor scenes or ‘small town America’ scenes (I always think of Mayberry and Andy Griffiths when I see them!)

I can’t think of any singles, off hand; I believe they always come in sets [watch someone come up with a single now!]. Superior Match Company’s sets from the 1940’s and 1950’s are the ones that come to the minds of collectors first and foremost. The only listing I know of is one that appeared in the Golden Orange bulletin, Nov. 1979, but I haven’t seen it, so I’m not sure of the contents. There is no comprehensive listing, but the numbers must surely
